HISTORY

Brunswick, Maine, is the shopping center for the East Casco Bay area. It is a community of approximately 16,000 population, and is an unusually attractive town with wide, well-planned streets and a great many old trees and houses.

The principal street, Maine Street, was laid out in 1717, when the citizens voted to construct a thoroughfare that would be 12 rods wide. This was an unusual thing to do in a time when cities were not generally planned, but grew up higgledy-piggledy. Maine Street, named after the State of Maine, retains its original width and is the second widest street in New England.

Brunswick was first settled in 1628, and originally called "Pejepscot." The town was incorporated in 1738, and named in honor of the House of Brunswick, in England.

Brunswick started life as a fur-trading post, run by a Thomas Purchase. He developed a superior method of curing the salmon that he caught in the falls and built up such a good business in exporting fish along with his furs that others were attracted to the vicinity, and quite a thriving little settlement evolved.

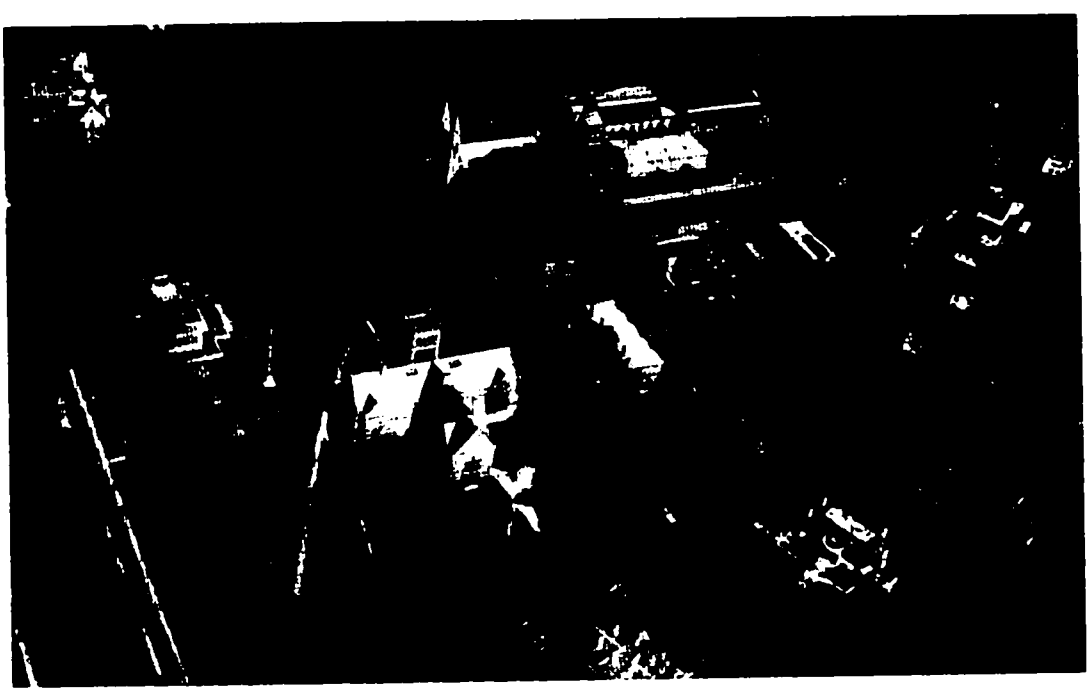
Purchase consistently cheated the Indians, however, so that the first violence of King Philip's War in Maine was the destruction of the Purchase block house. The place was constantly harassed all during the French and Indian Wars, in spite of the building of forts and the placing of garrisons. During the wars, Brunswick was burned and reestablished three times.

Two stories concerning the Indian name for the town conflict. One has it that the original name meant "crooked like a diving snake," describing a part of the Androscoggin River; another points to its being a favorite and best hunting ground of the Indians—"place of much fish, fowl, and beasts."

Conflict that existed between the white men and Indians settled down in 1730, when the uninterrupted development of Brunswick really began.



Bowdoin College was founded in 1794, but it didn't actually open its doors until 1802. Today the Bowdoin Campus is an impressively beautiful area which may be entered through any one of several memorial gateways.

Longfellow taught at Bowdoin, and the house in which he lived is still standing, as is the house on Federal Street, where Hawthorne roomed, while he was a Bowdoin student.

The best monument in Brunswick is no man-made thing; rather, it is the Bowdoin Pines that are located along U.S. Route 1, on Bath Street, on the route to Bath. They are the small remnant of the dense forest that once covered this whole country with white pines. These are the pines that were called the mast pines, the pines on which the whole great shipbuilding industry of Maine was based, the pines that caused much of our trouble with England.

This great natural resource was squandered prodigally, until only this little grove remains, saved through the foresight of the college. Some of the trees rise straight up for 70 feet before the branches begin, and many of them stood there before the first white man came to America.

The history of Bowdoin College, which is nearly coextensive with that of the Republic, has its full share of stirring and picturesque episodes but, with perhaps one exception, is free from those dramatic crises which offer a ready means of division into "periods." Contemplating the development of the tiny seminary of learning which opened its single narrow door to students in 1802 into the vigorous and firmly established college of today, with its multifarious activity, we are impressed by the gradualness of the transformation, the continuity underlying change. One contributing factor has been the relatively long terms of the administrators; in the one hundred and fifty-four years of its active history, Bowdoin has had but nine presidents. The terms of Presidents Hyde and Sills alone span sixty-seven years. It is, then, largely for reasons of convenience that we may mark off four periods: the first from 1794, the year of incorporation, to 1802, covering the founding of the College; the second from 1802, the year the College opened, to 1839, extending through the terms of Presidents McKeen, Appleton, and Allen; the third from 1839 to 1885, including the terms of Presidents Woods, Harris, and Chamberlain; the fourth from 1885 to the present time, comprising the terms of Presidents Hyde, Sills and Coles.

Bowdoin College is located in the town of Brunswick, Maine, which was first settled in 1628 on the banks of the Androscoggin River, a few miles from the shores of Casco Bay. The travelling time by rail from Boston is three hours, and from New York eight hours. The present campus, which was originally a sandy plain covered with blueberries and pines, is now a spacious tract of one hundred and ten acres containing more than a score of buildings and several playing fields.

By an extensive construction project completed in 1948, a new street has been laid out forming the eastern boundary of the campus and the old playing ground known as "The Delta," previously cut off by Harpswell Street, has been incorporated in the campus proper. Thus an area of several acres has been made available for new buildings, including Sills Hall and the Smith Auditorium completed in 1950, and Parker Cleaveland Hall of Chemistry which was completed in the Spring of 1952.

Of first interest to the incoming freshman is Massachusetts Hall. Here are housed the offices of the President, the Dean, the Director of Admissions, and the Bursar. Here the new student will register for his courses, pay his college bills, sign his name in the century-old register book, and receive the welcome of the President. It is in this building that he will always find the administrative officers ready to answer his questions and to give him friendly counsel about the many problems of college life.

The Chapel, whose spires have come to be a symbol of Alma Mater to thousands of Bowdoin men, is the scene of vesper services on Sundays at 5 o'clock. Each weekday at 10:10 A.M. simple, brief devotional exercises are led by members of the Faculty. For one hundred and fifty-four years, attendance at daily chapel has been a tradition of Bowdoin life, a tradition which has given the sons of the College many of their most cherished memories.

The work of the College has its heart and center in Hubbard Hall, the library building, which contains the accumulations of a century and a half. The nucleus of its 243,000 volumes is the treasured collection of books and pamphlets bequeathed by the Honorable James Bowdoin, the earliest patron of the College. These "Bowdoin Books," rich in French literature, American history, and mineralogy, were supplemented by the same generous benefactor's gift of his art collection containing many paintings of old and modern masters. Among the paintings are the portraits of Thomas Jefferson and James Madison by Gilbert Stuart, and a notable collection of portraits by the distinguished colonial artist, Robert Feke. These and other treasures are exhibited in the Walker Art Building designed by McKim, Mead, and White.

College classes are held in Memorial Hall, Banister Hall, Adams Hall, Hubbard Hall, the Searles Science Building, Sills Hall, Smith Auditorium, and Cleaveland and Gibson Halls. The first of these, which was built in 1868 in honor of the students and graduates who served in the Civil War, contains the Pickard Theater. In the lobby of this hall are bronze tablets bearing the names of two hundred and ninety Bowdoin men who were in the Union service in 1861-1865.

The Searles Science Building, which stands on the western side of the quadrangle, contains laboratories, museums, recitation rooms, and lecture halls. The Department of Physics occupies mainly the first floor and the southern half of the second floor; the Department of Biology occupies the northern half of the second floor and the entire third floor. Special laboratories and museums of both departments are located in the basement. Astronomical equipment and observing facilities are situated on the fourth floor and roof. The College maintains a scientific station for special laboratory and field investigations on Kent Island, at the entrance to the Bay of Fundy. This island was presented to the College in 1935 by John Sterling Rockefeller. Parker Cleaveland Hall houses the Department of Chemistry.

When students are not engaged in the library, laboratories, and recitation rooms, they have at their disposal many admirably equipped facilities for recreation. These resources include the Moulton Union, the Sargent Gymnasium, the Hyde Athletic Building, the Curtis Pool, and the playing fields of the College. Special provision for intramural sports and informal games was made in 1926 by the gift of a tract of sixty-six acres by Frederick William Pickard, LL.D. (1871-1952), of the Class of 1894. Pickard Field contains facilities for tennis, baseball, soccer, football, and other sports. The Pickard Field House, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Pickard, stands at the entrance to the field. The Hockey Rink, dedicated in the autumn of 1956, provides artificial ice for recreational skating as well as intercollegiate contests. Another valuable adjunct for the health of the student body is the Dudley Coe Memorial Infirmary; its facilities and the services of the College Physician are available to the students without charge.

THE COLLEGE BUILDINGS

MASSACHUSETTS HALL, planned in 1798 and completed in 1802, was the first college building erected. The interior was redesigned in 1873 to house the Cleaveland Cabinet of Mineralogy, named in honor of Professor Parker Cleaveland. In 1936 the entire building was remodeled to provide quarters for the administrative officers; in 1942, through a gift of Frank Herbert Swan, LL.D., of the Class of 1898, the third floor was restored and furnished as a Faculty Room.

MAINE HALL (1808), known originally as "the College," and named later to commemorate the admission of Maine to the Union; WINTHROP HALL (1822), named in honor of Governor John Winthrop of the Massachusetts Bay Colony; APPLETON HALL (1843), named in honor of the second President of the College; HYDE HALL (1917), named in honor of the seventh President of the College, and built from contributions from many of the Alumni; and MOORE HALL (1941), named in honor of his father by the donor, Hoyt Augustus Moore, LL.D., of the Class of 1895, are the five campus dormitories.

THE CHAPEL, a Romanesque church of undressed granite, designed by Richard Upjohn, was built during the decade from 1845 to 1855 from funds received from the Bowdoin estate. The façade is distinguished by twin towers and spires which rise to the height of one hundred and twenty feet. The interior resembles the plan of English college chapels, with a broad central aisle from either side of which rise the ranges of seats. The lofty walls are decorated with twelve large paintings. The Chapel stands as a monument to President Leonard Woods, fourth President of the College, under whose personal direction it was erected. A bronze plaque bearing a bas-relief of Elijah Kellogg, of the Class of 1840, is placed in a recess to the right of the main doorway. A set of eleven chimes, the gift of William Martin Payson, of the Class of 1874, was installed in the southwest tower in 1924. In the Chapel is an organ given in 1927 by Cyrus H. K. Curtis, LL.D. That portion of the chapel building which formerly housed the reading rooms and stack space of the college library was named BANISTER HALL in 1850 in recognition of the gifts of the Honorable William Banister. It now contains the offices of the Director of the Placement Bureau, the Director of Student Counseling, and the lecture room and laboratory of the Department of Psychology.

BRUNSWICK NUMERICAL DIRECTORY

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The streets are arranged alphabetically with their descriptions, each description followed by a numerical arrangement of householders, places of business and street intersections. (Arranged by rotation where no numbers have been assigned.)

The abbreviation r between the street number and the name signifies "rear."

The word "vacant" after a number signifies that the house, office or store at that number was vacant when the canvass was made.

△Indicates telephone at this number.

"Right even" after street description indicates even numbers on right side of street.

The symbol ◎ following a householder's name indicates that information has been secured during the canvass that the house is owned by some member of the family, but as the publishers cannot and do not guarantee the correctness of the information furnished, nor the complete absence of mistakes, no responsibility for errors can be or is assumed, nor can the publishers furnish further information than that shown.
